

PROJECT TITLE:

Heritage Treasures: Analysis of UNESCO
World Heritage Sites in Tableau

EMPATHY MAP

Project: Global Heritage Sites Analysis Dashboard

Stakeholders: Researchers, Tourists, Government Officials, UNESCO Authorities, Students

TEAM ID:

SWTID-2026-2982

DATE:

20 June 2026

WHAT DOES THE USER SEE?

- Heritage sites distributed across different countries.
- Cultural, Natural, and Mixed heritage categories.
- Different regions having varying numbers of heritage sites.
- Heritage sites marked as endangered.
- Interactive dashboards with maps and charts.

WHAT DOES THE USER THINK & FEEL?

- Wants quick insights about heritage sites worldwide.
- Wants accurate and reliable historical information.
- Needs to compare countries and heritage categories.
- Wants interactive visualizations instead of lengthy reports.
- Seeks data to support tourism, education, and policy decisions.

WHAT DOES THE USER HEAR?

- UNESCO promotes heritage conservation.
- Governments encourage tourism and preservation.
- News about endangered heritage sites.
- Researchers discuss historical importance.
- Travelers recommend famous heritage destinations.

OUR STAKEHOLDERS

Researchers
Tourists
Government Officials
UNESCO Authorities
Students

WHAT DOES THE USER SAY & DO?

- Searches for heritage site information.
- Compares countries and regions.
- Explores maps and dashboards.
- Uses filters and explores categories.
- Uses dashboard insights for research, education, and travel planning.

PAIN (Challenges, Obstacles, Fears)

- Heritage data is scattered across multiple sources.
- Difficult to compare countries and categories.
- Time-consuming manual analysis.
- Limited visualization of historical trends.
- Hard to identify endangered sites quickly.

GAIN (Goals, Benefits, Expectations)

- Easy access to consolidated heritage data.
- Interactive dashboards for quick analysis.
- Better decision-making using visual insights.
- Faster comparison between countries and categories.
- Increased awareness of heritage conservation.
- Support for tourism planning, education, and research.